Supporting different thinkers to read, write, and understand

Martin McKay

CEO, Texthelp

Dyslexia affects at least 8% of the population. In the USA 12% of students are in special education.

According to the National Literacy Trust, 16% of UK adults have 'very poor literacy skills'

All these people may find it difficult to understand text.

(some of them are your colleagues)

This is a societal problem.

Everyone has the right to understand and be understood

This is our why. This is our purpose.

By 2030 Texthelp will have advanced the literacy and understanding of one billion people.

This is our moonshot.

PwC Assistive Technology 'Super Simple 5'

Presentation by Chris Holloway
January 2022

PwC: Assistive Technology

PwC has seen assistive technology uptake increase by 56% over the past 12 months

Sponsorship

Senior or board level sponsorship provides a stable foundation needed to support investment in inclusive technology, growth and accountability.

- Funding or budget approval to procure or maintain assistive technologies.
- Technology Risk support for newly emerging assistive technologies that perhaps are cloud based or requires access to personal data.
- Help remove barriers or obstacles that may require leadership approval.
- Provide access to other senior leaders who can help influence policies.

Assistive Technology Enablement

Ensuring assistive technology is available to people when it's needed the most.

- Use reputable and stable assistive software or technology providers.
- Reduce friction by making software installations easily accessible.
- Provide ongoing training and opportunities to develop technology skills
- Not everything has to be 'High tech' built in accessibility is progressively becoming a mainstream option within many platforms.
- Join professional forums and social networking sites.
- When possible remove disclosure barriers

Relationships

Ensuring dedicated roles/ teams continually reviewing the technology on offer

- Focus on growing good strong relationships with your customers/ staff.
- Cross functional relationships: ie stakeholders across people processes such as recruitment / inclusion teams / technology / HS&E working collaboratively.
- Understanding how assistive technology is being used.
- Be transparent and open to discussion about the software available.
- Deliver upskilling and assistive tech focused training sessions with teams.
- Accessibility champion/ advocate networks really do make a difference!

Inclusive Processes

Develop processes that are inclusive, this helps people find information on assistive technology quickly and easily.

- Multiple entry points can help, however, this can also lead to confusion.
- Provide clear signposting to important information or policies.
- Alternative contact methods are great (email, phone, in person, live chat).
- Deliver easily to follow instructions and clear guidance throughout.
- Never stop reviewing processes, there is always room for improvement!

People

Remember people are just people

- Involve those using assistive technology when selecting new software and listen to what they really need.
- Newer technology, isn't always better!
- No two individuals needs are the same
- Assistive Technology will only be able to access content that is created with accessibility in mind from the outset.

A person with short dark hair and glasses is seen from the side, sitting at a desk and working on a laptop. The person is wearing a dark blue shirt and a watch. The laptop screen displays a document with text and a blue line graph. The background is slightly blurred, showing a desk with a keyboard and a mouse. The overall image has a blue tint.

Richard Branson
Virgin Group

"I'm so proud that Virgin Media has joined the Valuable 500, and that we continue to make disability and inclusion one of our highest priorities. We believe that by being an inclusive, barrier-free business and by treating people fairly, we're helping to create a more inclusive society."

Julie Sweet
CEO, Accenture

"We applaud the Valuable 500. At Accenture, accelerating disability inclusion is key to our commitment to creating a culture of equality where everyone can advance and thrive, and core to our strategy of being an innovation-led company."

Paul Polman
Former CEO, Unilever

"Choosing to hero one population over another is really exclusion; and up until this point, disabled people have been excluded to the cost of society, business and the economy. That's why I am proud to say Unilever is already fully on-board."
